Telepress

Enclosed for your information are copies of "Telepress" transmissions for 6, 7 and 8 May, 1948, as copied in London. [redacted] may be interested in comparing these with his own copy. A superficial comparison here indicates that [redacted] is doing a good job, especially considering the added reception difficulties at the greater distance. There is a possible indication, however, that he is careless about indicating gaps where words or phrases could not be read. If it is possible, all such omissions should be indicated by dashes in his copy.
